forney-General Harmon Has Turned the Whole Matter Over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

There seems to be no probability that the Federal authorities will take any further steps toward bringing the St. Louis bridge and ferry combine and the men who organized it to justice.

that cannot be denied. There will be no further investigation by the United States Grand-jury, at least in this Federal district, and the matter has been as good as dropped by United States District Attorney Clopton and his assist-

The Post-Dispatch has learned that a letter was received at District Attorney Clop-ton's office from the office of Judge Harmon, Attorney-General of the United States stating that all of the evidence and papers in the case had been turned over to Chair-man Wm. R. Morrison of the Interstate Commerce Commission, with instructions to investigate the matter and take action if it is found the interstate commerce law has been violated.

This probably means that nothing will ever be done by the United States Govern-ment with the combine or the men responsible for its organization. Chairman Mor-rison has never been an aggressive man rison has never been an aggressive man and the Interstate Commerce Commission is proverbially slow. Under the usual methods of procedure the case against the combine is hable to be killed by the statute of limitations before the Interstate Commerce Commission gets ready to act.

The impression seems to be general among those who know that such a disposition has been made of the case that the ame forces that were at work to make a arce of investigation by the last Federal Frand-Jury were behind the move to turn the whole matter over to the Interstate Commerce Commission. None would know better than they that the statute of limitations would soon intervene to cut emprosecution.

Tries a sharp trick and may have been inspired either by the corporation lawyers employed by the companies forming the combine, or by officials whose duty it is to prosecute such cases.

The same influences are supposed to be behind this move that have been at work right along trying to block the prosecubehind this move that have been at work right along trying to block the prosecution at every turn. It was well known that if delay could be secured until the statute of limitations intervened it would be necessary to secure entirely new evidence of the existence of a pool before further proceedings could be instituted.

On the other hand a gentleman who claims to know the contents of the Attorney-General's letter, says that the Department of Justice at Washington seemed to be disgusted with the failure of its representatives here to secure the indictment of the parties under investigation with such strong evidence of their guilt in their possession.

The condition of affairs is not particularly bettered by taking the case out of the Federal courts, and turning it over to the Interstate Commerce Commission, even if the suspects were not likely to escape punishment through the medium of the statute of limitations.

In going through the United States District Court the case would have been in the hands of men who secured their positions through the influence of some of the principal stockholders in the corporations under investigation.

If the Interstate Commerce Commission eyer takes up the case this difficulty will be encountered: Chairman Morrison is the personal and intimate friend of several of the most prominent men interested in the bridge and ferry companies whose influence is so potent in the Federal courts. In addition to this he is the intimate friend of Robert P. Tansey, President of the St. Louis Transfer Co., in whose favor a discount of 17 per cent is made by the bridge and ferry pool. President Tansey is also a heavy stockholder in the Wiggins Ferry Co., which is one of the corporations included in the combine. It is the close alliance between the Wiggins Co. and the Transfer Co. that made it possible for the latter to secure the enormous rebates that are being paid.

President Tansey is not only Chairman Morrison's intimate friend, but he has been latter to secure the enormous rebates that are being paid.

President Tansey is not only Chairman Morrison's intimate friend, but he has been for twelve years an earnest supporter of Morrison for the presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket. Their families are on the most intimate terms and it has not infrequently happened that the horisontal statesman has been wined and dined by the Tanseys when he visited this city.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, President Tanseys said that he had not seen Col. Morrison for two months, and does not know what his wishes are with regard to the presidential nomination. He said anything he might say on that subject would be speculative, and he did not care to talk for publication. He admitted the close friendship between himself and Col. Morrison.

shaken the dust of St. Louis from its ledeles and is rapidly moving hence. It started Saturday afternoon, and every one joined in speeding the departing guest.

Dr. Frankenfield, up at the Weather Bureau, says there is no telling when another one will strike here, but as they come pretty frequently at this time of the year he can only predict moderate weather for to-night and to-morrow. It will not be exactly warm, but the temperature will be a decided improvement over that of Friday.

According to Dr. Frankenfield's records the coldest of the present cold snap was reached at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, when the shermometer showed 4 degrees above. It had been gradually falling from 10 degrees at 7 o'clock Friday night. The mercury remained at 4 degrees until 8 o'clock, when it began to rise.

Bast and north of St. Louis it grew colder Friday night than it had been. The coldest spot was St. Vincent, Minn., with 38 degrees below. Chicago had it 8 below, St. Paul 6 below, Dulth 24 below, Indianapolis 4 below and Cincinnati 2 below. Out in Colorade it is growing much warmer, and it is warmer in Kansas.

The readings from the Post-Dispatch big thermomerter, from 7 a. m. Saturday, follow:

THE WEATHER.

Snow Saturday Night or Sunday Morning; Warmer.

For St. Louis and vicinity: Increasing cloudiness Saturday, followed by snow, commencing Saturday night or Sunday morning. Warmer.

For Missouri—Increasing cloudiness tonight with rising temperature. Cloudy Sunday with probably snow flurries in north portion. Rising temperature.

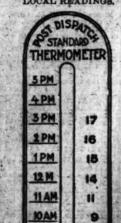

For Illinois—Fair to-night with rising temperature in west portion. Increasing cloudiness Sunday with probably light snow by evening. Rising temperature.

The cold wave covers the entire country this morning east of the Rock Mountains, the line of freezing temperature sertending southward into Florida and the Guif of Mexico. The temperatures are below zero through the Ohio Valley. The lowest temperature reported is 38 degrees below zero at St. Vincent, Minn. The temperatures have risen rapidly in the West, and above the freezing point in Colorado.

The pressure remains lawest on the North Atlantic Coast and is high elsewhere, although it is falling rapidly in the West. Fair weather has prevailed except in the lake region and Montana, where there have been light snows.

There are some indications of st development of a disturbance in the Middle Plateau, but later reports will be necessary to determine this.

Seventy Killed and More Than Thirty Wounded.

DR. JAMISON A PRISONER

About Five Hundred of His Followers Were Alse Captured by the Warlike Boers.

LONDON, Jan. 4:- The Colonial Office received a dispatch from Johannesburg at 4 o'clock this morning saying that all is now quiet there.

An official dispatch received at the Coionial Office from Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, says: Sir Jacob
DeWett, the British agent at Pretoria, wires:

"Everything is quiet, and no further se-rious disturbances will occur. A deputa-tion from the Johannesburg Reform Com-mittee came over yesterday evening, giving guarantees to keep the peace and man-tain order. I waited upon President Krue-ger and informed him of the guarantees. He gave me the assurance that pending your arrival, if the Johannesburg people keep quiet and commit no hostile acts or in any way break the laws of the country, Johannesburg will not be molested or sur-rounded by the Burgher forces. The depu-Johannesburg will not be molested or surrounded by the Burgher forces. The deputation was highly grateful for this assurance, and pledged the committee to preserve peace and order. I take this opportunity of testifying in the strongest manner to the moderation and forbearance of the Government of the Transwai under exceptionally trying circumstances. Their attitude toward myself was everything I could wish.

"The prisoners have just arrived. The casualities on their side of the Burghers very light."

Another dispatch from Sir Hercules Robinson to Mr. Chamberlain reads: "DeWett writes that Jamison's wounded number over thirty. They are all at Krueger's, attended by doctors. Their names and the details of their wounds cannot yet be given. The number of killed is estimated at seventy; but no reliable information is yet obtainable. The bodies are still being picked up on the battlefield and burled.

"Cape Town papers state that Dr. Jamison, Bir Charles Willoughby and Capt. White forother of Lord Annalry are lodged in Frastoria Jali. Gay and Coyant of the Bachusasiand police and a brother of the Bars captured about 500 prisoners.

Bill another dispatch was received at the Colonial office from Cape Town dated noon to-day saying that the battle lasted from 3 in the afternoon until 11 at night. Dr. Jamison led the three principal attacks and his men distinguished themselves.

LONDON STUPEFIED. All Sorts of War Rumors Rife in the Capital.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Jou nail publishes the following London cablegram from its correspondent, Julian Raiph: I wrote last night of the stupefying shock that came to London with the report of Jamison's surrender to the Boers in the Transvaai. We are without one single word of news from Africa in the thirty hours that have elapsed. The public temper has changed meantime to a grave, keyed-up anxiety over Jamison's fate, indignation against the Salisbury Government and spell-bound amazement at Emperor William's dagger thrust late the peace of Europe.

Not a single word has come from the Transvala that would open as wide a field of borrowed trouble as the English mind could survey.

But worse than no news has sounded the awesome stage whisper of a simple citizen whose shapeless innuendees have set conjecture breeding with conjecture until every official and every citizen has a separate headful of his own gloomy, bloody and awful imaginings.

headrul of his own gloomy, bloody and awful imaginings.

This startling whisperer is a man named Hess, editor of a Transvaal paper, and African critic here in London. Hess, in the morning, whispered to the African papers: "I have news from the Transvaal, but it is so shocking, so dreadful I will not tell what it is. I will not be the first man to break this evil news in England."

will not tell what it is. I will not be the first man to break this evil news in England.

In the evening, his whisper was a little more extended, but all the more exasperating because you could read it like a sentence of the Delphic oracle, forty-six ways, and still have room for new interpretations. At first London divided itself between three conclusions—Jamison was shot, or every man in Jamison's baild was all the bloody work was all ever.

But at night Hess said no jail at Johannesburg will keep Jamison within its walls, and that a bloody revolution is now going on; that Jamison is a free man again, and that the news of his freedom will be received within forty-eight hours. At this report in clubs, Government offices, newspaper rooms and homes all London shuddered as it guessed again.

It was like a fantastic whispering gallery in which a sentence is set aficat and comes back in a different shape, for at night another private citizen sent back Hess' whisper, changing it so that it said: Jamison is to be court-martialed, his followers released and further invasion from Buluway to be stopped by the Boers."

This second whisperer is named Regan, of Threadneedle street. Hess has had previous advices from a brother in Johannesburg, but this news, he says, came from Precorfu. Regan does not say how he sot the second dispatch. It is true that the Germans in

NEWS CENSORS KEPT BUSY

Yet the Junta's Leader in New York Says There Will Be No Attack On Havana Just New.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 .- A special to the Herald from Key West, Fla., says: Startling advices have been received her from the city of Havana to the effect that the whole province of Havana is up in arms against the Government. While he details against the Government. While he details are given of actual engagements, the reports say that the Government troops are falling back everywhere in the disaffected Western regions before the triumphant rebel army. To allay as much as possible the panic excited by this condition of affairs the chief officials in the capital are sending out in every direction false dispatches about the situation. That these attempts at stifling the facts are far from successful is shown by the wide currency which has been given to the rumor that the actual crisis in the revolution has arrived and that far from holding the insurrectionists in check the Spanish military authorities have been outgeneraled, have allowed their focato turn the fiank of their main position and have thus found themselves in a military dilemma of the most humiliating as well as serious character.

Not only are highly imaginative seports of Spanish victory disseminated, the Havana advices state, but the vigilance of the censors has been redoubled and telegrams and cables, as well as letters, are subject to rigid examination, that the news furnished by the authorities at the palace may not be alarmingly contradicted by the rectication of actual facts relating to the criss.

Another report received at a late hour is that a conspiracy to destroy the Government buildings in Havana by dynamite has just been disclosed and the plot of the conspirators was faustrated. are given of actual engagements, the re-

"West of that province he will probably not march, as that end of the island is narrow and the plantations are used for raising tobacco largely. The tobacco crop there will not be molested."

"Then you do not anticipate an attack on Havana by Gen, Gomer's army?"

"Not at present. There would be no object in such a course and Gen, Gomes would not undertake it. Gen, Campos has 18000 min. Gomes possibly has $6,000 all told, and some of his soldlers have only machetes. In Matanzas and Havana Provinces Gen. # Erickson's Body Still in the Priends of Charles Erickson, the only known victim of Thursday's fireworks explosion still in the wreck, are indignant at the lax manner in which the search for his body is being conducted. All Friday night, in the bitter cold, they filtred like grim spectres about the ruins, assailing the small squad of firemen at work with eager questions, but little or no work was done in the direction of recovering the missing body.

Assistant Chief, Haynes, with about a wind of the small specific properties of the control of the smouldering timbers, but that was the extent of their efforts. In fact, owing to the small torce it was impossible to proposed.

over 100 men to clear away the ruins with any dispatch.

In the chilling blasts of Saturday morning the small band of willing, but tired, firemen were still at work. They made no attempt to locate any bodies. The stream of water was still directed at the smouldering mass and it was said that as soon as the fire was totally extinguished the men would be withdrawn. So, as the matter stands, it will probably be some time before the body of Charles Erickson is removed from its funeral pyre.

"We can't do the work ourselves," said Assistant Chief Haynes. "The department can't spare the men. It will take fully one hundred people to clear away that rubbish and there are the lives and property of other people in St. Louis we are bound to protect. If the owners of the buildings did their duty they would now have a sufficient force here at work. As far as I know, no arrangements have yet been made."

Secretary Thomas A. Bell of the Levison & Blythe Co. was on the scene early Saturday morning. With a force of men and several wagons he begun to remove the remainder of his stock from the wrecked building to 40! North Second street, where the company will locate in future.
"When we get our stock moved, then we will quit," he remarked to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "We don't own the building and have nothing to do with removing the debris. That is the duty of the property-owners."

ris. That is the duty of the propertyowners."

All the apparatus of the fire department, with the exception of one hose, has been removed from the scene of the wreck.'

Crowds of curious people still continue to throng about the desolate scene, much to the discomfiture of the small detail of overworked patrolmen. Many well dressed women were noticeable in Saturday's crowd. One young lady, in a jaunty turban, a jettrimmed black velvet cape and black satin rkirt, managed to break through the "dead line" marked out to keep the crowds away from the wrecked buildings. The street was covered with a thick layer of ice and before the pretty miss knew how it happened she "with a star" and sat down with a thud oft the ice-covered granite. A tanalizing "ha-ha" from a group of urchins lear by followed and the young woman scrambled out of sight in deep embarrassment.

Charles Claybrook, the negro porter for the Anchor Peanut Co., who was at first upposed to be one of the victims of the holesale cremation, was seen at his home, ill North Sixteenth street, by a Postilispatch reporter. He had no idea as to low the fire could have started.

COULDN'T GET TOGETHER.

Another Delay in the New City Hall

The Heckel investigating committee, which was to have met Saturday to complete its report, failed to get together. It was decided to put Architect Mann on the rack again, and as that gentleman was not to be found a delay was agreed upon. This will involve a considerable waste of time, as the City Counselor will leave for Washington, D. C., Saturday night to argue a case before the Suprems Court of the United States. He will be gone for at least a week, and it is the opinion of the committee that they cannot proceed during his absence, as he is wanted to ponduct the examination of Mann. This is regarded as a mere pretext to save time and is in line with the general halting policy of the committee.

Pat Clarke is authority for the statement that no attempt will be made to depose McMath, as was contemplated some time ago.

Almost two months later he went back to his bride's home and brought her here, his family and friends thinking they had just been married.

SHERIFF TROLL MOVES. Everybody Beasonably Satisfied at the Court-House.

Sheriff Henry Troll has moved again. Saturday morning he vacated the room he recently usurped in the west wing of the Court-house and occupied the room in the east wing recently vacated by Collector Ziegenhein. This move was the result of an agreement between the Sheriff and Recorder of Deeds Lewis, who will occupy the room vacated.

Thus the controversy about quarters in the Court-house has straightened itself out, with everybody reasonably satisfied.

Sheriff Henry Troll filed his semi-annual report with the Circuit Court Saturday. It shows receipts as follows: Executions feebils, etc. 38,474; Criminal Courts 38,206; Court of Criminal Correction, 56,685; total 39,370. The expenditures are 53,701, showing a deficit of over $4,000. This is partially due to the disallowance of the bills for the attendance in the Criminal Courts, but there is usually a deficit at the first of the year, as so many fees are outstanding. When Labor Commissioner Lee Meriwether commenced his investigation of the subject of the returns being made to the public for valuable franchises, every railroad company assured him that its stock was all bons fide and none of it watered. While street railroad franchises are not now taxed, the total amount lost by the city because of the inadequate assessment of tracks is itself very large.

It has been shown in the Post-Dispatch that electric roads cannot be constructed for less than $25,000 a mile and cables for $75,000. # FORSTER WON THE FIGHT.

The Spencer Ticket Defeated in the Merchants' Exchange Caucus.

At the Merchants' Exchange caucus yesterday the Forster faction carried the day and the entire Forster ficket was nominated. It was as follows: For President, C. Marquard Forster; For First Vice-President, Amadee B. Cole; for Second Vice-President, Clark H. Sampson; for Directors—Thomas Booth, Manley G. Richmond, Charies F. Weneker, W. B. Dean, Joseph A. Jennelle, The vote stood: Forster, 48; Spencer, 50; Forster's majority, 46.

As soon as the vote was announced cries of 'Forster,' Forster,' brought the caucus nominee to the platform. He made a neat speech, accepting the nomination, in which he said if elected he would be President of the whole Exchange; if defeated there would be no feeling of resentment.

He was heartily cheered.

Corwin H. Spencer was then called to the platform. He made a brief speech, in which he said he was still in the race. The announcement was greeted with prolonged cheers. Ex-Gov. E. O. Stanard took the stand and announced that the Spencer party would hold a nominating caucus at the Laclede Hotel Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, There were sixteen ex-Presidents of the Exchange present. Ex-President Frank Gaiennie called the meeting to order. Several of the ex-Presidents made nominating speeches. It was one of the largest caucuses ever held, over 900 votes having been cast.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter informed Dr. Say of Miss Blackmore's visit to the Four Courts he smiled.

"There will be no trouble here if I can help it," he said. "The situation is this: Last July I hired Miss Blackmore to take charge of the hospital, as I wanted to be relieved of the direct supervision. Bhe was to make what she could out of it, and in return was to board me and some of the other employes. Her continuance in the position depended on her giving satisfaction. I soon discovered that she did not manage the hospital properly. She was wasteful in everything—the gas, coal and water bills being out of all reason. In fact she did not give satisfaction in any way. Recently I notified her that I would discharge her and gave her thirty days notice. She refused to leave, but I consulted Col, Dryden and S. P. Spencer, who informed me that I had a perfect right to discharge her. The thirty days expires Monday, and I expect her to leave quietly. If she does not I will make no attempt to forcibly eject her, but will institute legal proceedings the contributions.

Miss Blackmore seems inclined to be obstinate, and I may have to do this, but her apprehension of vicinence is without foundation."

A number of horses belonging to parties who had rented stables were confined there. They could not break from their fastenings, and their frantic and pittital neighing could be plainly heard.

In the adjoining sheds a number of carriages and wagons were destroyed. Five horses were burned to death. The loss will amount to about 13,200. The origin of the fire is unknown.

welfare of the country?"

The Post-Dispatch will answer this question by asking Mr. Cleveland another: Why should you stop the gap in the gold reserve made by the Wall street raiders with the people's gold and saddle a debt of any kind on the people when you have plenty of lawful money in the Treasury with which to meet every note of course if bonds must be issued a cheap popular loan is better than a dear Wall street loan; but it is unnecessary to sell bonds to either the people or the Wall street syndicate. # SENATE DEBATE.

Senators Hill and Elkins in Sin gle Combat

ABOUT THE BOND

Mr. Elkins Sought a Vote on His Rese lution That the Ronds Be Offered to the Public.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan, 4—In the Senate, upon the conclusion of Mr. Sherman's address on the financial question, Mr. Butler (Pop.) of North Carolina renewed his request for the immediate consideration of his bill to prohibit the future sale of bonds except with the consent of Congress.

Mr. Butler asked unanimous consent to put his bill upon its passage and Mr. Hill, who happened to be in the chair, rather startled the Senate by himself interposing an objection.

put his bill upon its passage and Mr. Hill, who happened to be in the chair, rather startled the Senate by himself interposing an objection.

Mr. Mills (Dem.) of Texas then took the floor to reply to Mr. Sherman. He repelled the charge that the Fifty-third Congress was in any way responsible for the present financial crisis. The burden belonged to the Fifty-first Congress, and Sherman was partly responsible for the legislation of that Congress. The Democrats had turned over to the Harrison administration in 1898 $230,000,000. How was sit, he asked, if the claim that the McKinley bill had produced sufficient revenue was true, that in 1895, when the Democrats again assumed control. all that surplus was gone, consumed and dissipated? Mr. Mills compared the McKinley and the Wilson bills. The former was entitled a bill "To Reduce Revenues," the latter "To Reduce Taxation." The report on the McKinley bill, written by Mr. McKinley, recited the problematic effects of the measure on the revenues of the Government. And yet, with the McKinley act responsible for the reduction, of revenues, the cry was now raised that the Wilson act was responsible for the decrease.

Mr. Sherman's resolution was temporarily laid aside and that of Mr. Elkins (Rep.) of West Virginia, directing the disposal of West Virginia, directing the disposal of West Virginia, directing the disposal of whom the spondicate who had taken up the loans of the spresent Administration. Only about $5,500,000 had been paid in commissions on loads aggregating $2,500,000,000 during the war. In other words, if reports were to be credited, the bond syndicate had made more in placing a loan of $2,000,000 than was paid for floating the entire war debt. The war loans were floating the contemplated loan of $100,000,000. The people were unable to comprehend such reckless and wanton waste of millions. He did not mean to criticise the President, the Secretary of the Treasury or the syndicate which was simply taking advantage of an opportunity, but he insisted that the peop tion in 1878 a bond sale of this nature was negotiated.

"But there were thirty days' notice of sale," interrupted Mr. Eikins.

"And within that thirty days," added Mr. Sherman, "the public instead of the bankers took the bonds."

Mr. Hill declared that banks and syndicates frequently pushed forward "the public" to disguise their own transactions. The Senator read in detail the bond contract made in 1878, to which the names of the Seligmans, Belmonts, Morgans and the representatives of the Rothschilds were appended.

the Seligmans, Belmonts, Morgans and the representatives of the Rothschilds were appended.

"And who was the Secretary of the Treasury at that time?" asked Mr. Turpie.

"It was that distinguished Senator from Ohlo, John Sherman," responded Mr. Hill, with great vigor.

"Who are the men in this present syndicate?" asked Mr. Hill. "Who is this Mr. Morgan of whom we hear so much? Is he not the Mr. Morgan who furnishes the sinews of war to the Republican party?" There was no reason to helieve that the executive authorities would seek to grant special favors to this gentleman.

In the judgment of Mr. Hill no contract whatever has been made at the present time, notwithstanding the flewspapers. The Senator referred frequently to the First National Bank of New York as one of the participants in the bond transactions of 1878.

"What is the peculiarity of this First."

the participants in the bond transactions of 1878.

"What is the peculiarity of this First National Bank?" asked Mr. Harris, "that the Senator retery to so mysteriously."

"I will not go fifte that unpleasant chapter," said Mr. Hill. "The public will recall the transactions of that day. The charges of favoritsm extended to this bank, because of its contributions to the Republican cause, will be recalled. But I do not intend to go into that subject," I deny," said he, "that the First National Bank of New York is a contributor to the Republican cause. One of the officials of that bank is a Democrat, another a Republican, another an Independent, all honorable men."

visions for a popular absorption of the bonds.

"Does the Senator mean to say," inquired Mr. Hill, addressing himself to Mr. Sherman, "that he did not make a contract with a banking syndicate?"

"I most emphatically state," hesponded Mr. Sherman, "that a large part of those issues were taken by the public."

Returning to the resolution, Mr. Hill gave it as his belief that the President would not pay the slightest attention to it. He would be governed by the laws now on the books, not by such resolutions.

Mr. Sherman followed with a detailed arplanation of the hond issues under his administration of the Dressues under his administration of the Treasury. The contract of 1878 was with the bankers with whem the Government had previously dealt, After that during all the period of resumption not one dollar was paid to any syndicate, but all bond disposals were given the widest publicity at postoffices and public places throughout the country.

Mr. Butler oftered an amendment to the resolution, prohibiting issues of bonds without Congressional authority.

Mr. Chilton (Dem.) of Terms offered a further amendment on the same line as that of Mr. Butler, but differing in detail. He proke briefly, it being his initial ad-contract. It amounted, said Mr. Teller, to a misappropriation of public funds and the public would so judge the past and the coming transaction.

Mr. Hill replied that this talk of allowing the public to take the bonds was for political effect; it smacked of demargouery. Let the people of Colorado come forward with their gold. Let the gold come from any source, and see how quickly it would be accepted. Instead of offers there was assertion and criticism.

At this point Mr. Hill paid a tribute to Secretary Carlisie, repeatedly calling him by his full name, John G. Carlisie, which attracted marked attention.

"Imbeelle, incompetent, dishonest is what we hear," Said Mr. Hill. "John G. Carlisie fishonest! And yet, thirty years in public life and a poor man to-day, living on his salary. "Imbeelle, "dishonest! what we hear hissed across the Senate."

Mr. Hill said if anyone had suffered at the hands of Mr. Carlisie, it was himself and his colleague (Mr. Murphy). They had been ignored in the appointments of their own State, and yet Mr. Hill was thankful that he was broad enough to recognize the unflagging patriotism and devotion of the Secretary of the country, and his ability in meeting the requirements of occasions. He was seeking to act; while the critics stood "picking flaws on this thing and that" and blekering in the face of air senergency.

Mr. Hoar spoke of the calamitous conditions, unparalleled in the history of the United States, bresented by the present transactions of the controlling executive authorities. He asked what had become of history and honesty and integrity of the old Democratic party.

A sharp collequy occurred between Mr. Hoar, Mr. Hill and Mr. Sherman as to the use of the reserve funds for meeting current expenses, Mr. Hill contending against the others that the use of Treasury funds was atricity within the law.

Another sharp passage occurred between Mr. Hoar, Caffery also responded to Mr. Hoar's criticisms on the decadence of Southern integrity.

"At least," said Mr. Caffery, "the Southern

Mr. Hill at once moved to refer the resolution to the Finance Committee.

"Let us vote on that now," said Mr. Teller.

"No, not just yet," responded Mr. Hill.

"There can be no vote on this resolution for the present."

Mr. Hill declared the resolution for the present."

Mr. Hill declared the resolution to be a futile movement, which could have no more effort than the Pope's buil against the comet. Why should the Senate attempt at this moment of financial embarrassment further to tie the hands of the Executive authority. Mr. Hill said he had no special sympathy with these money syndicates in New York City. He contended that this mot new. With two-thirds the nantity they will get better results at less cost than it is possible to get with lard or butter. When Cottolene is used for frying articles that are to be immersed, a bit of bread should be dropped into it to scertain if it is at the right heat. When the bread browns in half a minute

THE TIBURON ISLANDERS Did. Not Let The Scientists Study Them in Their Haunts.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A special to the Herald from Hermosillo, Mexico, says: The United States Bureau of Ethnology expedition to Tiburon Islands has returned here after two weeks spent on the island and the adjoining mainlands. All of the party were in good health, though sensa-party were in good health, though sensational reports have been current in Hermosillo for a week that the expedition had been massacred by the Seri Indians.

Prof. McGee, ethnologist in charge, was not successful in the hope of finding the Seris and studying them in their native haunts, as the Indians abandoned their ranches on the approach of the party and hid in the mountains.

Several of the larger villages were visited, however, and a collection of Seri implements made. A Balsa, one of the Seri red canoes, was captured on the mainland and from one of the burial places a skeleton and some implements were obtained. The party brought back a large collection of photographs from the island and vicinity. A cursory examination of the island was made for minerals, but the reports of rich deposits were not confirmed. No additional light could be thrown on the murder of Robinson and Logan, the two San Francisco newspaper men who were killed by the Seri Indians two years ago.

The Pittsburg Manager Thinks He Got the Best of Von Der Ahe.

ELY OUTCLASSES CROSS.

Fred Gilbert, the Champion Trap Shot. in St. Louis-Casey-Daly Fight Set for January 28.

Connie Mack, the clever manager of the Pittsburg Club, thinks he got all the best of President Yon der Ahe when he induced the St. Louis man to part with his great shortstop, Fred Ely, in return for Pitcher Will Hart, Shoristop Monte Cross and a cash consideration of less than $1,000. Mack is satisfied that Ely is the best shortstop in the League. He admits that Hart is a good pitcher, but he says he was determined to get Ely at any cost. The fielding records of the League show that Ely outclasses his successor on the Browns. Among he shortstops Ely was tied with Corcoran of Brooklyn for second place, with a percentage of 390. Cross percentage was 382. Ely had 712 chances in 118 games and he made but 50 errors. Cross had 669 chances in 108 games and his error column shows a total of 75.

In batting Ely had a per cent of 260 and Cross 255. Hart pitched brilliant ball during impression is that Ely's loss will greatly weaken Von der Ahe's team. However, it must be remembered that Chris and Fred are on the outs and Ely's local friends have been asserting that the best thing Chriscould do would be to trade him off. President Von der Ahe gives this fact as his reason for making the deal with Pittsburg.

CHAMPION FRED GILBERT. The Great Trap Shot Stops Over on Hi Way to Texas.

Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Io., the champion trap-shot of America, is in St. Louis on his way to San Antonio, where the first great shooting tournament of the new year will be held next week. Gilbert arrived in the city Friday and will resume his journey South to-night. During his stay in St. Louis Gilbert has been the guest of W. M. McBlair, the local powder man. Gilbert won the trap shooting championship at Baltimore last fall, when he defeated such cracks as Brewer, Fulford, McAllister, Class, King, Bingham, Grimm and Cox. He also won the Smelzer medal at Kansas City and the Bogardus medal, representing the pigeon shooting championship at Lincoln, Ill., last year. In the Davenport, Io., shoot last week he defeated several crack Western shots. Gilbert is a young man. Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Io., the ch at Greenville, Miss., Jan. 23.

Daniel Daly, the clever St. Louis featherweight, writes the Post-Dispatch from Greenville, Miss., that he has arrived there in good shape and is confident of defeating Jimmie Casey, who he will meet on the 23d. ### KILRAIN FANCIES FITZ. If Maher Wins He Must Do It in Less Than Ten Rounds.

Regarding the Fliz-Maher fight, Jake Kilrain, Sullivan's old opponent, says:
"According to form the winner looks like Fitzsimmons. If the Irishman wins he must execute his job in a hurry. He is no good on distances, while Fitz is the lean horse for the long race. You can say this for me: If the fight lasts over ten rounds Fitz has more than an even chance. Maher to win must win in less than ten rounds. Maher, I believe, punches harder than Sullivan ever did in his-life. Sullivan had tremendous muscular force, but he swung and wined every which way, and it always was a wonder to me that he didn't break his arms long before his right arm was fractured by Pat Cardiff's skull. Maher hits cleaner and straighter than Sullivan and the weight of his body goes with his punch when he sees a good opening with small chance of a return." Regarding the Fitz-Maher fight, Jake Kil-

Changed for the Better in Mexico.

Capt R. R. Rice, the Arkansas turfman, was in the city Friday on his way back to the City of Mexico from Chicago, where he spent the holidays with his wife and little boy. His stable of fourteen horses has been racing at Bob Pate's track since he left the Fair Grounds. The track is open on Sundays only, but Capt. Rice has the best horses there and manages to capture first and second money in almost every other race. He will ship north March 10, and after the Little Bock and Memphis meetings will come to St. Louis. The latest addition to the Rice string is a 3-year-old bay filly named Buszing Bee. She is by imported Buzzard Wing, dam Biretta, a sister of the dam of Henry of Navarre. Buzzing Bee is entered in several of the Fair Association stakes.

WOMEN NEED NOT APPLY. Pittsburg Attorneys Do Not Want Them in the Profession.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.-A committee reported to-day to the Allegheny County reported to-day to the Allegheny County Bar Association on the question of admitting women to the bar. In part the committee said:
"Passing by the question, so often discussed, as to whether or not women possess the necessary mental characteristics for the proper practice of law, your committee are of the opinon that the very nature of the practice is such as to render it peculiarly undersirable that women should be admitted. And their admission would be injurious to the profession."
